HPCAsia2024: Call for Supporters

High performance computing is a key technology to solve large problems in science, engineering, and business by utilizing computing power which has been evolving to the future. HPC Asia is an international conference series on HPC technologies in Asia Pacific region to exchange ideas, research results and case studies related to all issues of high-performance computing and related technologies. Recently, it was held in Singapore (2023).

We will be holding the next conference, HPC Asia 2024, in Nagoya, Japan. We are currently inviting corporate supporters to support HPC Asia 2024.
